SPAIN ORDERS CARDINAL OUT

Catholic Primate Deported
Under Police Guard by Government.

CHARGES NOT REVEALED

Fearing Presence Might Cause
New Attacks—on Churches.

By The Associated Press
MADRID, June 15—Cardinal
Pedro Segura y Saenz, Catholic Primate of Spain, was deported today by the Republican government.
Cardinal Segura, with police guards, left Guadalajara this morning in a government automobile for the French frontier under orders to leave Spain.

The minister of the interior,
Maura, announcing the cardinal's departure, declined to reveal the charges against the cardinal or the route to be followed but said he would be outside of Spain by mid-afternoon. This indicated he would cross the French frontier at Irun for Hendaye.

President Alcala Zamora said:
"I am not able to discuss this matter as it does not belong to my jurisdiction but belongs to the minister of the interior to give the reason and explanation."

The cardinal had been protected
during the night and this morning from mobs who streamed through the streets shouting "Down with the clergy." Out with the priests!"

Cardinal Segura, in priest's garb, was arrested in an automobile with his two brothers near Guadalajara
the party offering no resistance.
They asked to be brought to Madrid, but permission was denied.
As the arrested men were taken through the streets to the Paulist monastery, shouting crowds gathered.

The government's position is that the presence of the primate in Spain might lead to a breach of the peace and cause a recurrence of rioting and of the burning of churches.

POLICE BAFFLED IN LIMA MURDER CASE

Resume Search of Quarry for Missing Companion of Slain Girl.

By The Associated Press
LIMA, O., June 15—Draining of the quarry pond which yielded the body of 17-year-old Theima Woods, slain after she left a dance two weeks ago, was resumed today in the belief it also held the body of her escort.

Police questioned a number of persons over the week-end and still held a former sweetheart of Miss Woods, but learned nothing that would clear up the slaying. The girl was last seen alive leaving a Memorial day dance with Earl Truendell, 20, of Elida. Authorities are confident that he met the same fate as his companion, although an extended search has failed to reveal his body.

PLEASURE BOAT CAPSIZES OFF FRENCH COAST

Sunday Outing Turned into Sudden Tragedy as Storm Hits Craft.

TOLL POSSIBLY HIGH

Authorities Believe Some Passengers May Have Reached Shore.

By The Associated Press
ST. NAZAIRE, France, June 15
—Dozens of harbor craft picked their way across the bay of Biscay today with lookouts scanning the water for the bodies of more than 400 men, women and children drowned yesterday when a hurricane capsize the excursion steamer St. Philibert.

Eight persons were rescued and eight bodies have been recovered.
It is possible that others escaped death and have not yet reported their safety, but the toll of the disaster was estimated with as much accuracy as possible at 442 dead.

There was an admittedly slim chance that a final check would reveal that many of the passengers had left the boat before the storm struck. It was barely possible also that some of those aboard may have reached the shore in safety between Pointe de St. Gildas and the Loire river. There can be no definite check until the families of those aboard the steamer have reported to the police.

Poorly Constructed
The St. Philibert was a flimsy 100-foot river steamer. The put out from Nantes yesterday afternoon with a crowd of picnickers on an outing run by a labor organization.
Steaming down the river to St.
Nazaire and across the bay to the island of Noirmoutier, not far to the south.

There most of the passengers went ashore. The weather was threatening when the steamer started on the return trip and at first it was reported that a hundred or more had decided not to go back by boat. Later this was proved erroneous and it was said that less than 30 remained behind.

Off Pointe de St. Gildas the storm broke with sudden fury. The passengers stampeded to the leavard side, threw the boat off an even keel and she turned over.
A lighthouse keeper saw her go down, but was helpless.

The lighthouse keeper was the first person ashore to sense the impending tragedy. He saw the vessel roll and toss in a heavy rough and the clouds hang above her. When she was nearly across the open water and heading towards the mouth of the Loire river, he saw her career under the impact of humanity and succumb to the battering of the seas.

He telephoned St. Nazaire, Nantes and Pornic for help. Life saving crews put out in tug and patrol boats. By the time they arrived the scene of the disaster was dotted by a gray expanse of water, marked with a few survivors and bits of wreckage. The boats picked up eight young men, strong swimmers but nearly exhausted, and four bodies, three of them women with wedding rings.

BLAZE THROWS 550 MINERS OUT OF WORK

Incendiarism Believed Origin

Southern Ohio Coal Strike Loses Impetus as Many Return to Work.

By The Associated Press
ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., June 15
Five hundred and fifty miners employed at the Big Run mine of the Rail & River Coal company were thrown out of work today when a fire believed of incendiary origin destroyed the mine wash house.

The blaze starting shortly before dawn destroyed mining clothes of 250 men and owners of the mine, located at Dillies Bottom, 10 miles south of Beilaire, said. It would be virtually useless to open the shaft with only a skeleton crew. As soon as the miners can provide themselves with new clothing the shaft will be re-opened the owners said.

Meanwhile in other parts of the Belmont county coal field, miners returned to work.

The President mine of the Clarkson Coal company, near here, reopened with 150 miners entering the workings. The miners were compelled to force their way through picket lines of the strikers.

Duty sheriffs arrested three men for interfering with officers. Those arrested were taken to St. Clairsville and held in the county jail.

At the new Lafferty mine of the M. A. Hanna Coal company, where most of the disorders centered last week, not a picket was in sight early today and 150 of the 320 miners who quit work last week, returned to work. Fifty new men were hired by the company, and officials expressed the opinion that others would be re-employed within the next week, and barring a fresh outbreak of disorders, the mine would operate on full schedule before the end of the week.

Meanwhile strike headquarters were set up by the National Miners union at Bridgeport, near here, to direct a drive for recruits in the Ohio and West Virginia fields.

You may not do so comfortably. That is, you may see well and strain your eyes in doing so. It is hard for some to realize that seeing well is no proof that glasses are not needed. But it is a fact that much good would result from a better recognition of it. Defective eyes need our service.

CLARA BOW BEGINS QUEST FOR HEALTH

Starts Life in "Great Open Spaces"; Plans Return to Talks.

LOS ANGELES, June 15.—Clara Bow, her red hair dyed blonde, sought communion with nature today after seven hectic years in the movies.

She looks forward to a month or so in the great open spaces centering after cattle. After that she expects to return to Hollywood, full of health, pep and vigor, and ready to talk about reappearing in the talkies.

Just before the Bow party—the actress, her friends, Rex Bell, and Duke, her great Dane, in one car, and her nurse, cook and chauffeur trailing in another—left yesterday for Bell's ranch at Nipton, Calif., she granted the first lengthy interview since she suffered a nervous breakdown and entered a sanitarium last month ago.

She explained her blonder, almost platinum blond hair, and the fact that she weighs 125 pounds. "I had my hair dyed to disguise myself while I went to the dentist," she said, "and the trick worked great. Very few people recognize me. I gained weight while I was sitting around under treatment at the sanitarium. But outdoor life at the ranch will fix that. Andy, my favorite horse, is up there and I'll spend a good deal of my time riding. And I'm going to stick to vegetables even if Rex does have a lot of good beef at the ranch."

20,000 SLAUGHTERED IN CHINESE BATTLES

Nationalist Government Receives Crushing Defeat from Communist Forces.

SHANGHAI, June 15.—Victorious on one front in its campaign against Bandits, the Nationalist government admitted today it had received a crushing defeat on another battleground.

At least 20,000 government troops were slaughtered or otherwise disposed of by Reds in Kiangsi, Hunan and northern Fukien provinces recently, an official announcement said.

In Hupeh province, however, a Hankow announcement said, Nationalist troops routed 15,000 Reds and captured several Communist strongholds.

Frederick Bankhardt, of Berea, Ohio, head of the abandoned Methodist mission at Yenping, Fukien province, in a letter to friends here today said bandit disorders in northwestern Fukien struck with such unexpected force that missionaries there were caught virtually unawares.

Writing from Foochow, where he arrived June 10 after a hasty escape down the Min river, Bankhardt declared "never did anything strike us with such suddenness as the upheaval which broke out with amazing speed in the upper sections of the province."

"One week ago," he wrote, "I dreamed that such things might occur, and here I am now in Foochow."

"Events of the last week are a tremendous disappointment to missionaries of this district. It will be some time before we are able to return to our work, the length of time depending upon the government's attitude and its efforts to curb this rebellion."

Moloney received the blessing of Pope Pius XI.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, C. F. Kirchner of Cleveland, was lovely in her bridal gown of eggshell satin made with close-fitting long sleeves. Her long veil of floor-length skirt was finished in a train. Her long veil of real lace was fashioned in a cap shape and caught at the back with orange blossoms, and was worn by her cousin Mrs. Edward Schroeter of Cleveland at her own wedding at St. Mary's church several years ago. Her flowers were an arm bouquet of Calla lilies tied with satin ribbon matching her gown. She was attended by her sister, Miss Helen Ray, as maid of honor, and Miss Margaret Moloney, sister of the bridegroom as bridesmaid. The attendants' gowns were fashioned alike in the bride's colors of turquoise blue and peach. Bashes of contrasting shades held the gowns at the waist. Miss Ray wore turquoise blue chiffon with a large hat of the same shade trimmed with a large satin bow in peach shade. Miss Moloney's gown was in a peach shade of chiffon and her hat matched her gown and was trimmed with a large bow of turquoise blue. Pumps in shades matching their gowns and long white gloves, completed their costumes and they carried bouquets of Johanna Hill roses, gypsophylla and blue delphinium, tied with ribbon matching their gowns. Little Miss Mary Catherine Grundy attended the bride as flower girl and wore a gown fashioned in a peach shade and fashioned in the lines of those worn by Miss Ray and Miss Moloney. Her chignon hat matched her gown in color and she carried a miniature bouquet made of the same flowers as those carried by the attendants. The rings were carried on a satin pillow by Master Eddie Murphy who wore a suit of white satin.

William Pleisticker of El Dorado, Kas., was Mr. Moloney's best man and the ushers were George H. O'Connor, Jr., of Syracuse, N. Y., Robert Pleisticker of El Dorado, Kas., Leo R. Kunda of Cleveland, William Mooney of Cleveland and Ralph Burke of Maquoket. Mrs. Ray wore a gown of eggshell chiffon with a hat of the same shade trimmed with velvet bandings. The bridegroom's mother was gowned in brown chiffon with a lace bodice and a brown hat.

Both wore shoulder corsages of Tulleman roses.

A reception and wedding breakfast for 125 guests, at Hotel Harding followed the mass. The ballroom was decorated with summer bloom and the bride's table, at which covers were placed for 26, was centered with larkspur and roses and lighted with cathedral candles.

Vases holding spring flowers entered the smaller tables arranged for grouping of eight. Mr. and Mrs. Moloney left on an extended wedding trip which will take them to the west coast and this fall they will go to Washington, D. C. where Mr. Moloney is a student in the law department at Georgetown university. Mrs. Moloney wore for travel a sports suit of blue and white.

The Boston Braves and the New York Yankees have found themselves in unpleasant spots with no apparent way of getting into higher places in the standings. Both have shown themselves to be good clubs, but not quite good enough to overtake the flying leaders of the two circuits.

The league leading Athletics also met with a reverse and had their margin cut to three games as Cleveland took a one-way stand 6 to 4. Relief pitcher Bill Shores struck a wild spot in the eighth inning and walked in the tying run, then an error by Fox gave the Indians two more. It was the first time this season Cleveland has beaten the champions.

The Yankees are third in the American league with an average of .563. Yet they are 6½ games behind Washington while the Philadelphia Athletics are soaring way up at the top with a .745 mark. The Braves have .520 average but cannot get out of fourth place in the National league as the St. Louis Cardinals remain in first place while Chicago and New York fight it out for second.

Boston Gains Ground
Boston improved its standing considerably yesterday by defeating Chicago's Cubs, 3 to 1, in a brilliant pitching duel. The game produced 19 strikeouts. Fred Frankhouse and Charley Root fanning eight each, and only 11 hits, six of which went to the Cubs.

Chicago dropped into third place as the New York Giants continued their winning streak to four games with a 3 to 2 victory over Cincinnati.

The Giants, however, could not gain on the Cardinals. St. Louis put in a busy day of slugging and took two games from the Phillies, 7 to 3, and 13 to 4.

Brooklyn took a 6 to 3 decision from Pittsburgh as Howard Groshen, youthful Pirate shortstop, booted one at a crucial moment and paved the way for three runs in the eighth.

Solons Win Ninth
Washington did all the gaining in the American league, winning its ninth straight game, while the struggling Yankees lost one at Detroit, and slipped back another notch. The Senators hammered the St. Louis Browns around to win 9 to 3. Vernon Gomez, Yankee pitcher, weakened in the tenth inning of a duel with Vic Sorrell and gave Detroit two runs and a 4 to 2 victory.

The Chicago White Sox also broke a losing streak of six games with a 7 to 4 victory over Boston.

SOFTBALL AGAIN IN SPORTS SPOTLIGHT

Two Games Stand Out on Week's Schedule of City Recreation Ball.

BY BOB KIRKPATRICK
Sports Editor, The Star

WITH the first meeting of the Ohio Short Ship harness races now history, recreation baseball again becomes the sole occupant of the local sports stage this week.

Except for a Saturday afternoon baseball game of the Marion Steam Shovel and Bellefontaine there is not another athletic contest of any kind scheduled on a week-day of this week. All of which may or may not be a good thing, all according to the way you look at it.

Of course it is impossible to forecast with any certain degree of accuracy just what is in store for the week in the way of close competition and good ball games but the contests should for the most part be better than those of the previous seven days. First division teams are billed to clash on several occasions and second half teams are listed to oppose each other.

Leaders in East
It is rather hard to name the outstanding attraction of Monday but it probably will be the Central Christian Seniors vs. First Presbyterian.

4 GAMES TODAY
The Tuesday night games of the No. 1 Sunday school league have been postponed. All other games will be played this week unless inclement weather intervenes. The rumor that the games scheduled for today were postponed is incorrect. The four games scheduled elsewhere on this page for today will be played.

SECOND ROUND OVER IN GOLF TOURNEY

A REQUEST
Golfers who are playing over the Mar-O-Del golf course near the Harding Memorial on Tuesday, June 18, have been asked by the club management to refrain from playing during the course of the dedication address by President Hoover. The course will be open for play the entire day but members are urged to respect this request in honor of the former president and of Mr. Hoover.

A radio is being installed in the caddy house of the Mar-O-Del for the benefit of those who wish to listen in on the address.

TONY ROCCO MEETS CLYDE ROBINSON IN MAIN CO. OF MAT CARD.

"Cyclone Clyde."
That's the name by which Clyde Robinson, the big heavyweight known throughout the wrestling world.

And it's a fitting sobriquet for when Robinson swings into action on the padded mat and really gets warmed up to his work, he is all of a miniature cyclone.

He'll have need of all his cyclonic action tonight at the Shovel Gym when he takes on Tony Rocco, the big New York Italian in the two best out of three falls main bout of Clete Kauffman's second wrestling show here.

For Rocco is a plenty tough gentleman. Tony has been around in this hard old game of twisting toes and scrambling ears and has learned all the ins and outs of the game.

Rocco is a native New Yorker and was brought up in the tough atmosphere of the big "burg" where one has to be rather self assertive to get along in the world.

Tony is all of that and he promises the Cyclone plenty of action when they tangle tonight.

The semi-final of Kauffman's program will present the sensational Georgia Tech football star against the crack Slavish heavy from Chicago, George LaSane.

LaSane is a great wrestler, being an adept at slam holds and at taking full bringing grips from a standing position. He seldom goes to the mat and with Lumpkin being an exponent of the flying tackle LaSane will have to move plenty if he is to keep out of the way of the battering ram attack of the Georgian.

In the preliminary, Sammy Summers, local Italian lad, will attempt to stop Dick Griffin, another Marion boy. This bout will go 15 minutes with one fall to win.

The card will get underway at 8.30 p. m.

STEAM SHOVEL NINE LOSES FIRST GAME

East Liberty Gives Locals Opening Setback of Season Saturday.

After chalking up four consecutive victories in the Central Ohio baseball league the Marion Steam Shovel underwent a change of form Saturday and took its first beating of the season. The final score was 4 to 0. The winning team was East Liberty.

There was never such doubt as to who was going to win the ball game. The batting eyes of the Marion club were way off form and as a result safe hits were few and far between. Not more than five Marion batters got as far as first base in any one inning. In only two innings did this many get on.

East Liberty chased two of its runs across the plate in the second inning and then brought in the final two in the fourth frame.

Batteries and score by innings: Steam Shovel 000 000 000—0; East Liberty 020 200 000—4.

Two Phillie Fence Busters

Something akin to a riot of protest broke out among the backers of the Philadelphia Phillies last winter when the baseball trade was announced that sent Lefty O'Doul to the Brooklyn Robins. "Buzz" Arlett, of whom much was hoped and not so much expected was brought in to fill the shoes of Lefty Arlett was supposed to team up with "Chuck" Klein in this little business of batting somewhere in the vicinity of 400 per cent and of knocking home runs over the fence with considerable consistency.

This is asking quite a lot of any one man but Arlett is coming through in great style. The fact he has almost forgotten that O'Doul ever existed for Arlett and Klein are smacking the ball with unusual vigor, both being right up in the lead among the National league clubbers.

Carnera Meets Redmond in 10-Round Bout Tonight

NEW YORK, June 15—Primo Carnera and Pat Redmond, whose aggregate poundage is 510 pounds, will struggle through ten rounds or less of boxing tonight.

Carnera, the 260-pound Venetian, is 2 to 1 favorite over the 250-pound Irishman, Redmond, whose experience here has been obtained in a few six round bouts in the outlying fight clubs. The bout was to have been held last Wednesday but rain interfered.

SUNBURY UPRISING IN NINTH NEARLY ROBS MORRAL OF VICTORY

County Team Moves Into Tie for League Lap; Marion Whitewashed 2-0.

A ninth inning uprising on the part of Sunbury almost cost Morral a chance to move into a tie for the lead in the Rural Community league yesterday in a game played at Lincoln park. Morral finally won out by a single run the final score being 3 to 2 but the winning run did not cross the plate until the last half of the ninth frame.

Morral was apparently an easy though close victor over the league-leading Sunbury team as the game went into the ninth inning and the score was 2-0 for Morral. However Sunbury promptly loosed a barrage of hits that brought across two runs and tied the score before the last man was out.

Morral drove across another run in the last half of the ninth to win the game. The winners were out-hit by Sunbury 9 to 6 but committed only one error to three for the losers.

Batteries and score by innings: Sunbury 000 000 002—2

Sunbury, Perfect and Jahn; Morral, Roseberry and Koonz.

MARION IS BLANKED
Rodman, Prospect Hurler, Gives Locals Only Five Hits in Game.

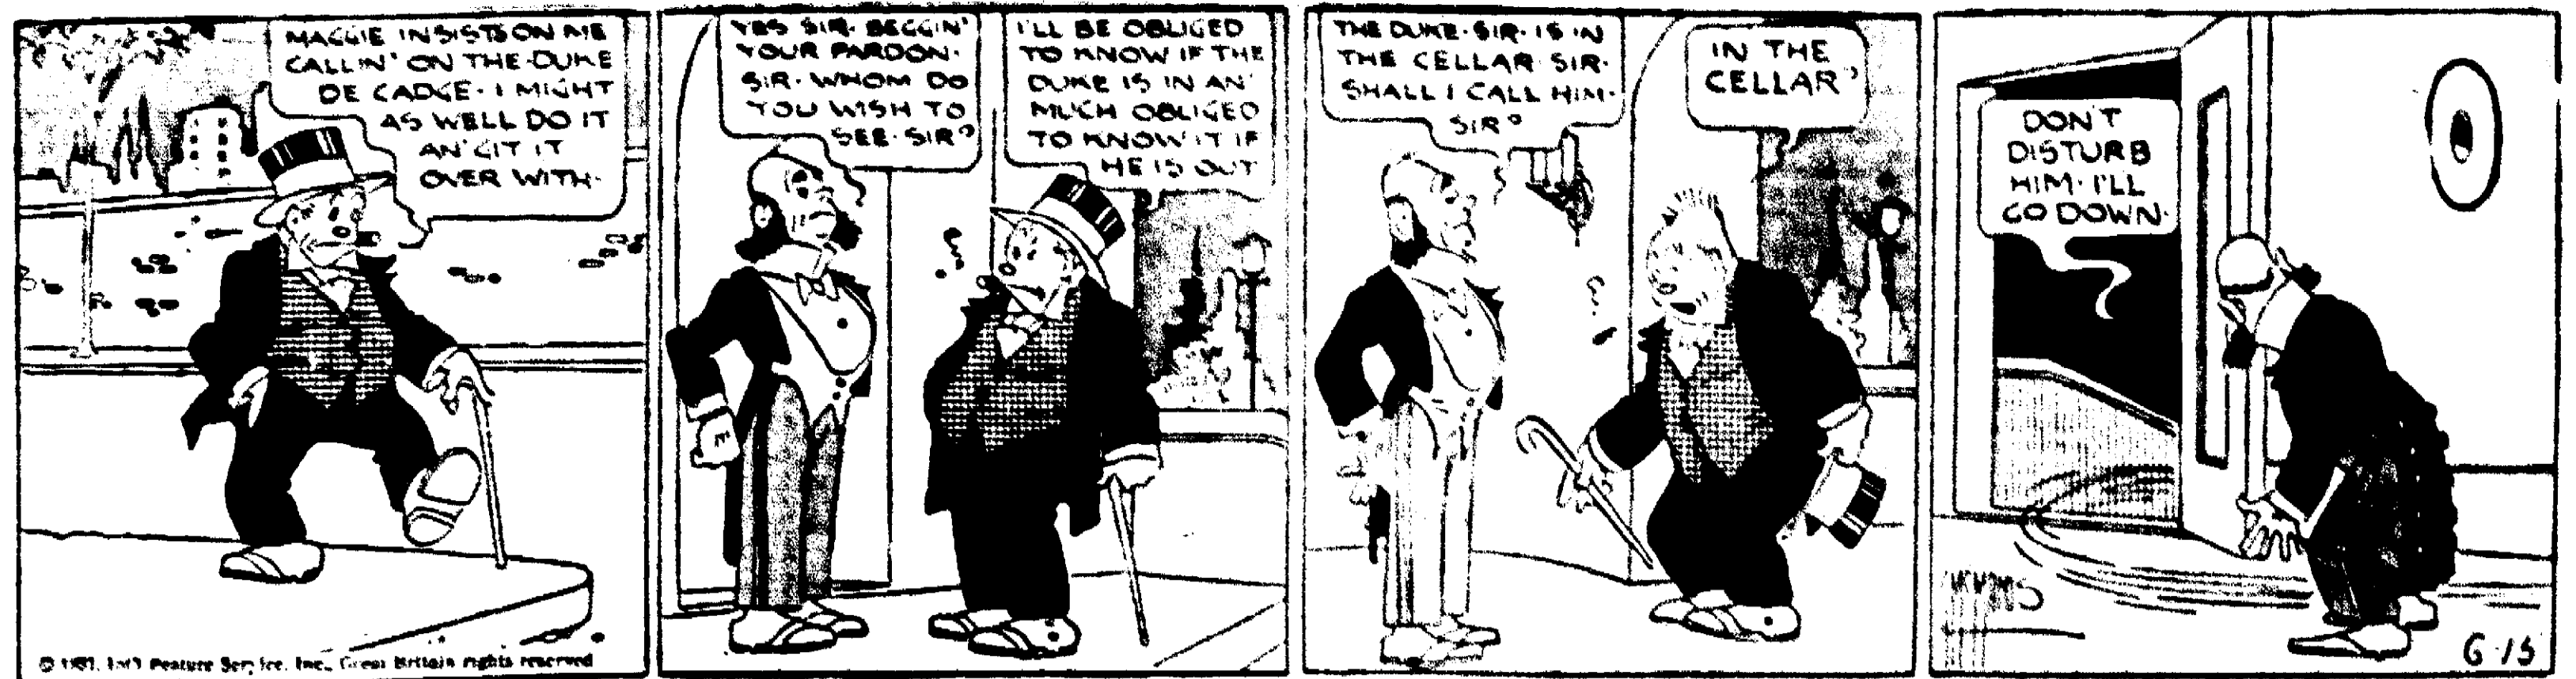

Marion's entry in the Rural Community league was given a severe setback yesterday by taking a 2 to 0 whitewash at the hands of Prospect Rodman. Prospect hurler, was in rare form and allowed the losers only five safe hits. Prospect offerings of Mougey and Thorpe but bunched them to a much better advantage and brought in two runs. Both teams had a single error.

Batteries and score by innings: Prospect 000 101 00x—2

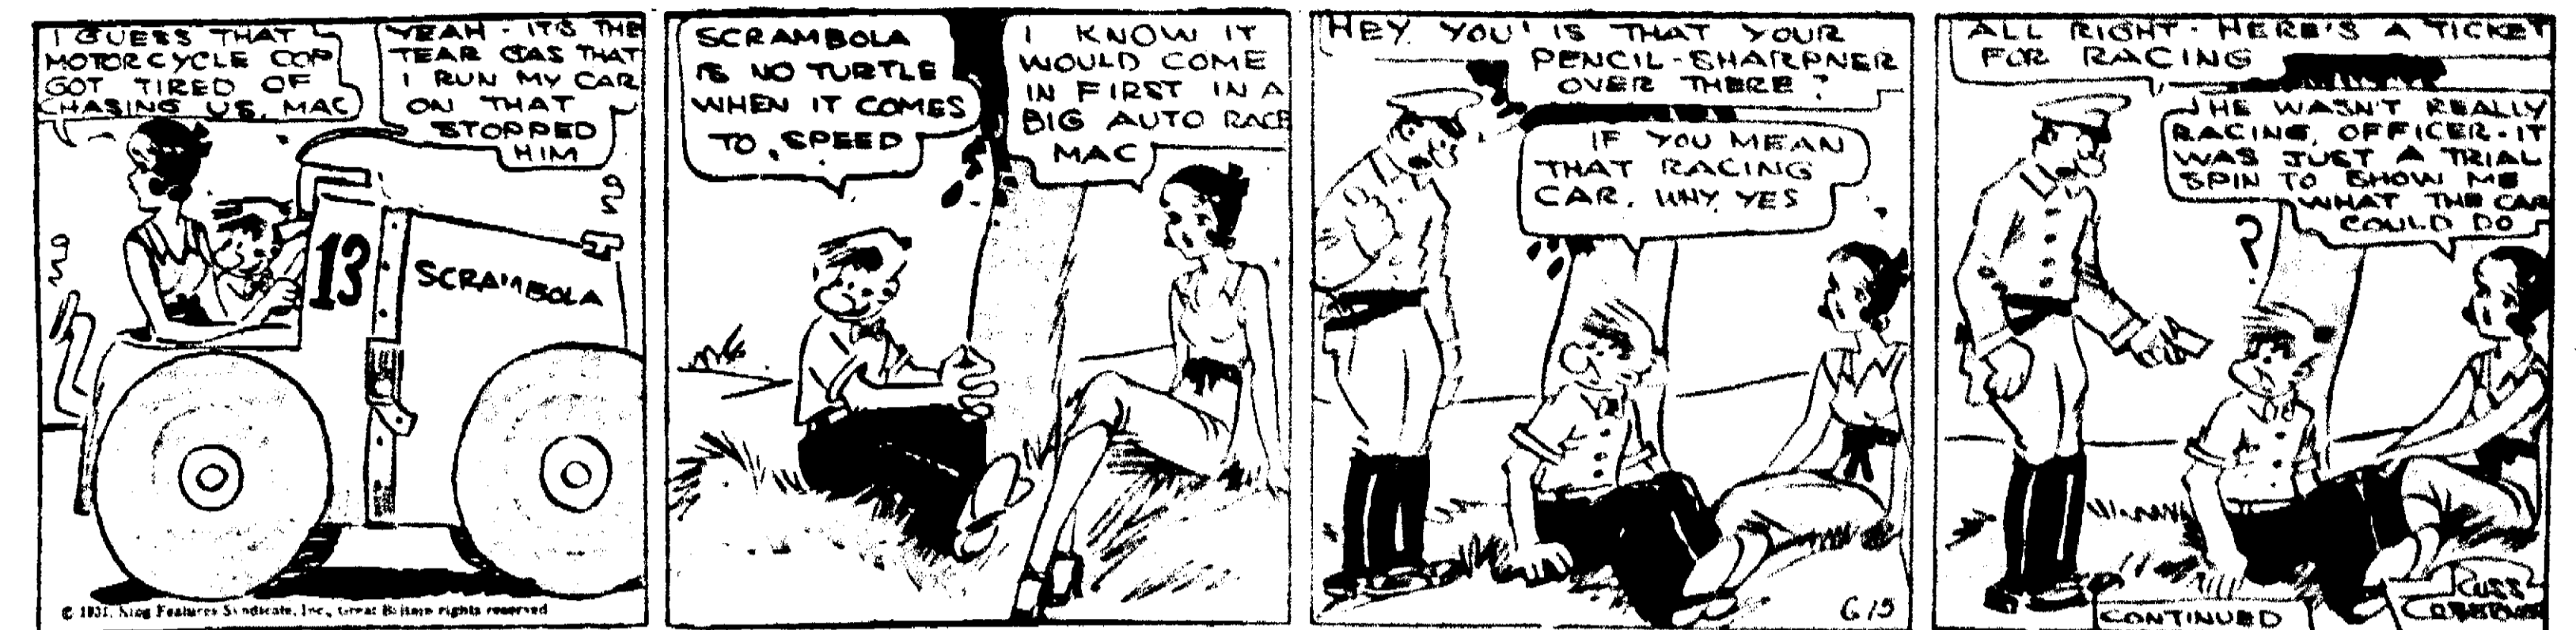

Marion 000 000 000—0

Dear Sir:
I have been a sufferer from ulceration and irritation of the stomach and bowels for 30 years. I have tried all remedies that I have heard about, with slight improvement. Sometime ago my attention was called to Yellow Root & Clay which I have been consistently using. I have taken five bottles and can say that I feel that I am cured of the dreadful malady that afflicted me. I live at 394 Olney av., Marion, and am employed as a toolmaker at the Marion Steam Shovel Co. I will gladly verify this testimonial upon request.
(Signed) H. B. Jones.

This is one of many encouraging reports received from those to whom we have sold Yellow Root & Clay. If you are a sufferer from Ulcers irritation or colitis, try this really wonderful remedy.

Good—they've got to be good!

get you "there" on time!

Engineers, conductors, brakemen, firemen, signalmen—here's an army whose praises are too seldom sung.
Think what duty costs these "soldiers of peace" as husbands and fathers away from their homes. Think what their watchfulness means to your safety and comfort—and salute them!

You don't worry about them—you don't have to!

Sixty... seventy... eighty miles if needed. You don't worry—you know there is a sure hand at the throttle!
And just as casually you light a CHESTERFIELD—knowing that every safeguard for its quality, purity and good taste has long since been per-because they're made that way—from riper, milder tobacco and pure

OHIO'S TRIBUTE HEARD IN TALK BY GOV. WHITE

Voices Eulogy of Harding in Accepting Memorial for Native State.

GIVES REVIEW OF CAREER

Sees It as Proof of Open Door of Opportunity; Praises Mrs. Harding.

Accepting the Harding memorial on behalf of the state of Ohio, Governor George White, speaking at the dedication of the tomb here this afternoon, paid tribute to Warren G. Harding as a man of human kindness and friendliness, steady of purpose, honest, clear of thought and expression and of sterling personal integrity.

Painting a word picture of the late president, Governor White said the career of Warren Harding would stand out as a beacon light in the history of the world.

"No where save in a democracy such as ours could such achievement be possible," he said. He called Harding, a barefoot boy roaming the hills near Morrow county—and then the man who rose in public life from a state legislator to the presidency of the nation.

The governor paid tribute to the sterling qualities of Mrs. Harding, as "a shining example of what may be accomplished through the loving devotion of American womanhood."

The text of Governor White's address follows:
"Gratefully, Mr. President, the state of Ohio accepts this beautiful memorial erected to do honor to one of her native sons, and to serve as the permanent sarcophagus for him and his devoted companion."

FRELINGHUYSEN TRACES RECORD OF MEMORIAL

Tells of Movement Inspired by Nation's Affection for Departed Leader.

SPEAKS AS OLD FRIEND

Recalls Harding's Intense Love of Country and Faith in Democracy.

A tribute to President Harding's memory came from a man who had been one of his close personal friends and associates in the address at today's Memorial dedication given by Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, president of the Harding Memorial association and former United States senator from New Jersey.

"Looking back over the years of our friendship, I can testify that he served his country with deep sincerity of purpose and was animated by a devoted patriotism," Mr. Frelinghuysen said.

Going back to the time when President Harding was stricken suddenly while striving to bring to fulfillment his ideals of government and public service, Mr. Frelinghuysen told of how the Memorial had its inception in the nation's grief over the President's death and in its deep affection and admiration for him.

Made Possible by Nation's Gifts
Although the Memorial association, formed by Mr. Harding's close friends and associates, was the actuating force in the Memorial movement, the widespread and voluntary response of the American people in making contributions was what made the monument possible, Mr. Frelinghuysen said.

The text of Mr. Frelinghuysen's address follows:
"We have assembled today to dedicate this monument to the memory of Warren G. Harding, twenty-ninth President of the United States, who died at San Francisco, on August 2, 1923. He was stricken down in the third year of his term of office, far from the nation's capital, while actively engaged in carrying out the tasks of his high office."

"Seldom in the history of a democracy has a fallen leader received greater tribute of esteem and affection than was accorded President Harding in the hour of his passing. Out of the very fullness of that devotion, heartfelt and sincere, has this memorial arisen, and truly we who dedicate it today may say it is the nation itself which has here carved in enduring marble this beautiful monument of national memory."

A National Tribute
"The Harding Memorial association, headed by President Coolidge as honorary president, and officered by the members of the dead president's cabinet and other close personal friends, was the actuating force which made this devotion culminate into finished and lasting monument."

PRESIDENT HERBERT HOOVER

200 PERSONS ATTEND LUNCHEON AT HOTEL

Nationally-Prominent Figures Present; Calvin Coolidge Honor Guest.

Hotel Harding was a mecca for nationally-known figures this morning when distinguished dedication visitors gathered at the hotel, in preparation for the luncheon given by the Harding Memorial association. Calvin Coolidge, former president, and vice-president during the Harding administration, as well as honorary president of the Harding Memorial association, was the guest of honor.

Virtually all of the outstanding visitors for the dedication with the exception of President Hoover, whose late arrival prevented him from attending, were present at the luncheon. Not since the Harding funeral had so many national figures met in Marion.

In Guest List
Among those present, besides Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge were former Vice President Charles G. Dawes of Marietta, Hubert Work, former postmaster general and secretary of the Interior, former Governor Myers Y. Cooper and Mrs. Cooper, accompanied by a party of friends, Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, of New Jersey, president of the Harding Memorial association, accompanied by Mrs. Frelinghuysen, Governor George White, his daughters and members of his cabinet, United States Senators Simon D. Fess and Robert J. Bulkley, State Senators Robert L. Roke of Tiffin and John A. Lloyd of Portsmouth, Harry M. Daugherty of Columbus, former attorney general under Presidents Harding and Coolidge, and dozens of other well-known friends and associates of President Harding.

200 at Luncheon
Luncheon was served to 200 persons. As it was necessary to adjourn the luncheon almost immediately to enable guests to go to the memorial in time for the program, the only entertainment given at the luncheon was provided by the Columbus Glee club. Members of the club were guests.

Giving Official Memorial Dedication Address, He Recalls Harding as Able Leader in Post-War Reconstruction.

TERMS HIM IDEALLY FITTED FOR TASK

"Gave His Life in Worthy Accomplishment for Country," President Says to Throng of Thousands.

HERBERT HOOVER, President of the United States, speaking at the tomb of his former chief, today dedicated the memorial to Warren G. Harding. With the closing of the ceremony the Harding memorial became a national shrine, built by the contributions of more than a million persons and in the words of President Hoover, "was their response with tender remembrance to a kindly and gentle spirit."

President Hoover described conditions at home and abroad when Harding became chief executive of the land and told how the ship of state was safely guided through perilous seas to restore confidence both at home and in foreign lands.

President Hoover delivered the dedicatory address in the memorial ceremony in which former President Calvin Coolidge, former U. S. Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen and Governor George White took part.

A throng of thousands that filled virtually all the wide expanse of space in front of the memorial heard the program.

Based Address on Personal Observations
President Hoover, who accompanied Harding on his tour of the West and Alaska on which he died Aug. 2, 1923, spoke from his experience as a member of the

From Tributes to Harding
PRESIDENT HOOVER: "He brought to the office of President a long experience in public affairs together with the character and spirit of which the republic was then in need. . . . He was a man of delicate sense of honor, of sympathetic heart, of transcendent gentleness of soul—who reached out for friendship, who gave it joyfully and generously in his every thought and deed. He was a man of passionate patriotism."

CALVIN COOLIDGE: "It seems as though President Harding was preeminently fitted to serve the country in the disturbed and distraught period following the war. . . . It would be difficult to find any peace time period of a little over two years when so much that was beneficial was accomplished as during his administration."

JOSEPH S. FRELINGHUYSEN: "I can testify that he served his country with deep sincerity of purpose and was animated by a devoted patriotism. . . . He loved with the highest devotion the great republic he had been called upon to serve."

GOVERNOR GEORGE WHITE: "His career stands out as a lesson to the youth of America that opportunity still beckons, that there is reward for industriousness, compensation for integrity and steadfastness of purpose, and glory in achievement."

Harding cabinet and from the standpoint later of one who entered upon the tribulations of a chief executive. "Warren Harding gave his life in worthy accomplishments for his country. He was a man of delicate sense of honor, of sympathetic heart, of transcendent gentleness of soul." This was the tribute of President Hoover to Harding—the man.

In speaking of Harding—the president—President Hoover said, "He brought to the office of President a long experience in public affairs together with the character and spirit of which the republic was then in need."

Disorganized national finances, demoralized and prostrate agriculture and business and widespread unemployment were the problems that had to be met by President Harding. President Hoover said that the Harding memorial was a fitting tribute to the man who had led the nation through its darkest hours.

Pitch Pipe Blamed for "High Hatting" Coolidge
Former President Calvin Coolidge today learned why Carl "Pop" Blum, director of the Columbus Glee club, was guilty of "high hatting" the president by falling to his knees and kissing him after the dedication ceremony in Marion.

Daily Proverb—"Do not look upon the vessel, but upon that which it contains."

Not a single iceberg has been sighted in the Atlantic steamship lanes thus far this spring by the government's ice patrol boats and a cutter has been sent north to discover the reason. Huh! The bergs were probably melted in last year's drought!

Announcement has been made that the marriage of Princess Helena and Archduke Anton will be solemnized at the Roumanian summer resort at Sinaia "in the interest of economy," from which it may be gleaned that royalty has been skidding financially with the rest of us. If that is any consolation.

It's a wonder that nobody as yet has thought of trying out a slogan to put the kibosh on the depression.

There were fewer strikes and lockouts in the country last year than during any year since 1918 and fourteen per cent. of them were in New York City, the number being 653 or 260 less than in 1929 and only twenty-four more than in 1918, the low record for the last fifteen years. It may be said, in passing, that strikes and lockouts are not so much the result of conditions as the result of force of habit with New Yorkers.

Who Should Pay?

At no time has there been more talk about war debts than right now. Cancellationists, provided with a brand new argument in the decline of commodity prices and unsettled conditions in Germany, are expounding vigorously. High officials in the government, too, are talking, and among them may be discerned traces of cancellationist belief. A recent report is that President Hoover contemplates using debt reductions as a lever to reduce armaments among European nations, a worthy end but a doubtful means.

Who should pay the debts? The money can not be plucked out of the air. It must be found somewhere. The most acute treasurer in the world hardly could expect to wave away an item of something like $11,700,000,000 with wishes and incantations. The liability is there for the United States treasury to meet.

Who should pay? The nations which incurred the debts or the taxpayers of the country from which they borrowed?

The situation reduces itself to that. Cancellation implies that the creditor is in such vastly better condition than his debtors that he can afford to disregard honest debts owing him. A threatened federal deficit of a billion dollars should dispel any such rosy fancies. The United States needs the money. If its idealistic purpose be to force Europe to reduce armaments, a better way than coining with sugar would be forcing by necessity. A substantial cut in the annual bill for death-dealing equipment would more than pay the annual obligation of the debtor nations.

The issue of war debts, thus, is drawn between American taxpayers and taxpayers of United States debtors. Or, completing the set-up, the issue is drawn among taxpayers of the United States, taxpayers of the United States' debtor nations, and taxpayers of Germany, whose protests against high taxes and reparation payments are giving other European nations an excuse to talk cancellation. "If Germany doesn't pay us," they say, "we can't pay you"—a doubtful course of reasoning which the United States wisely refuses to admit. Obligations can not be sidetracked so easily. In order to emphasize what it is the cancellationists would shunt from Europe to American taxpayers, the amounts of the three largest debts are repeated. Without subtracting payments made last December, England owes the United States $4,426,000,000; France, $3,865,000,000, and Italy, $2,017,000,000. These nations, named in the same order, had paid $1,751,000, $446,000, and $83,000,000 up to November.

Fiscal experts of the nations interested in evading the burden of debts they owe the United States rightly presume that the sentiment of the American people is not favorable to further debt reduction. They know that congress does not favor further scaling down of their obligations, furthermore. Still they hope, in desperation over their own fiscal muddles they do not understand why American taxpayers do not volunteer to put their own affairs in a similar mess.

A harsh creditor is not a pleasant figure, but he often is an inevitable one. American taxpayers are willing for their government to be hard-boiled in the matter of war debts. They are willing, in short, for the government to pursue the same tactics in collecting its debts as they would expect in a transaction involving themselves. Taxpayers can't evade debt by crying about hard times and the hard plight of their neighbors. Why should nations expect to, then? Payments may be held up if necessary, but they must be made eventually.

Harding Memorial Dedicated.

History was made in Marion, this afternoon, when President Herbert Hoover and former President Calvin Coolidge participated in the dedication of the superb monument erected to the memory of the late President Warren Gamaliel Harding. It was the first time in the annals of the land when a chief executive of the United States and a former chief executive personally figured in the dedication of a memorial to one who before them had held the highest office within the gift of the American people.

Nor were these two distinguished figures in contemporary life the only notables to do honor alike by their presence and their utterances to the memory of the late president: Hon. George White, governor of Ohio, and Hon. Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, of New Jersey, former United States senator, paid their tributes of respect and esteem to the sterling qualities of the nation's chief whose great heart beat for the last time on that fateful August night eight years ago.

In this day and age, when neither the living nor the dead are spared in the commercialization of calumny and abuse, it is good to have men who have attained to high places, as have these, to come to the city which gave Warren G. Harding to the country and give to the world their valuation of his record and accomplishments as president. Marion is content to leave to the distinguished speakers of the afternoon the appraisal of that record and the measure of the statesmanship essential to its accomplishment, but they may not bring out the impelling force which led her one-time son to seek the exalted position to which he was elected by the votes of more than 16,000,000 of his fellow-Americans.

It is not generally known that Mr. Harding became a candidate for the presidency with reluctance. His preference was to hold his place in the senate, not only for the reason that he liked the senatorial life the better and its strain was infinitesimal compared with the awful burden of the presidency, but also because of the fact that the presidency was a bar to that warm, personal contact with his fellow-men which was the breath of life to him. It was urged upon him that his candidacy was a duty which he owed his party, and he felt that possibly one of his disposition and manner might be better fitted to bring together the discordant elements in his party than would one of austere mold. It was in the hope of this that he became reconciled to a candidacy for the nomination, for he was a staunch believer in the two-party system of government, and it was his feeling that that system would be surer to endure were the two old parties unweakened by factional differences. He had no delusions regarding what election to the presidency at that time would mean. He knew that it would prove the greatest undertaking in the field of government ever faced by a mortal man in time of peace if not, in fact, at any time. To apply a term which he later utilized, he realized that to bring the country back to normalcy would prove a greater undertaking than any one man could safely assume; that the chances were that one who took up the burden might not, probably would not, survive it.

No, it was not ambition which led Warren G. Harding to become a candidate for presidential honors. The senate was the goal of his political ambition, and he was happy in it. In his love of country he was a true patriot, and his belief that Americanism was what the country most needed at that time was the final factor influencing him to enter the late which finally took him to the White House. And although he entered the presidency as the candidate of the Republican party, he speedily made known to the leaders of his party that, though a Republican, he was, above and beyond all else, the President of the people of the United States and that their interests would be held by him at all times paramount to those of his party, should conflict of interests arise. He was the President of all the people, and as such he died loved and mourned the country over. And today, the charming characteristics of the man which then drew the country to him—the bigness of his heart, his love and sympathy for his fellow-men, his graciousness, his charm of manner, his frankness, his freedom from cant and loathing of hypocrisy—in memory endure.

A scientist says that Mayan women ruled the home. In one respect, at least, the passing centuries have wrought little, if any, change.

Of course, since it has developed that it was a nitroglycerin explosion and not a meteor which shook up northern Ohio a few nights ago, the natural conclusion is that those who saw the meteor's course across the sky only thought they did.

London reports that the end of the Labor government is near owing to the bolt of the Liberals. When Mr. Lloyd George went to Mr. MacDonald's assistance, it would have been the part of wisdom had the latter looked for a long, sharp knife concealed under the former's sleeve.

"The male of the species must go to wars and tiger hunts to be greatly stirred by life," according to Elsie McCormick, "the female can stay at home and get a larger need of excitement out of a race for a man." Another vindication of the Kipling contention!

According to a New York dispatch, 30,000 employees of that city face a graft quiz. Come to think of it, Mayor Jimmy Walker hasn't been what might be termed loquacious of late regarding the absolute purity of Tammany Hall government.

It's easy to go along with Mr. G. A. Achinson when he says that Hollywood has had a lot of experience in ennobling immorality, but it's going to be mighty hard to line up with his conclusion that Hollywood has made of the process a fine art.

The Essentials to Success.

WHILE Marion is celebrating the centennial of the city's founding, it is fine to rejoice in the coming together again, to find happiness in the exchange of sentiments born of home-coming, to recall the pride in things accomplished, and above all else appraise the qualities of men and measures which made us what we are today. The latter is essential to the preparedness for greater progress in the future.

Sturdy men pioneered the way to early settlement — and sturdy women, too. They blazed the way of development in Ohio, and sent many of their sons and daughters to the peaceful conquest of the Greater West—the Mississippi and Missouri valleys. Resolute and able men made secure the social order here, and simple and courageous men blended determination with genius and made the industrial beginning. They had little of wealth, but they wrought wealth out of opportunity. Only a few knew their struggles, their sacrifices, but honesty, simplicity, industry, capacity and determination are known to have been the chief essentials of their success. These make for success anywhere, and are available to all who aspire.

Let Marion preserve every good lesson of the yesterdays, and resolve to go on, adding to the stride in industry and commerce, and determine that every enlargement in material growth shall reflect progress in the finer attainments which make a community worth while. The fit counterpart to the city of material success is the city of happy homes, ample education, fortunate and profitable employment, worship of God facilitated, a civic conscience and a community soul.

A New Universe Maker.

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON.

An interesting theory of the origin of the solar system has been put forward by Professor Harold Jeffreys, the English scientist. It has many features to recommend it and is already coming in for wide notice. Like the tidal theory, it is based on a bi-parental origin. And Hutton, in the eighteenth century, put forward the germ idea on which this theory is based.

The tidal theory likewise has a bi-parental conception back of it. But it assumes the near passage of sun and star, rather than an actual collision of the two with each other. Such a collision, according to the Jeffreys theory, is supposed to have occurred very far back in time, say 2,000,000,000 years ago—a sort of maximum for geological time.

In the new theory, the force of fluid friction is added to all the forces estimated to exist in the tidal action theory. The trouble with the tidal theory was that it was in violation of the known facts regarding the periods of the planets. The rotation of the planets, under this tidal theory, would be about the same as that of the sun. But this, unfortunately, is not the case. The sun rotates in twenty-five days, for example, whereas Jupiter takes only ten hours for its rotation. This discrepancy is believed to spell the ruin of the tidal theory.

The question, whose solution is sought by Jeffreys, is: How shall this difficulty regarding rotation be met? Jeffreys points out that when there is a sharp boundary between two fluids moving with very considerable velocities, rotation takes place. If our star actually collided with the sun and a layer of separation between them was formed, a difference of velocity of 400 kilometers per second between the two sides is presumed. The collision would soon be over—easy in an hour; but it would be long enough to set up the required rotation. As the star left the sun, it would drag along with it the transition layer, which would form a long ribbon-shaped strip. This would in the process of emergence and stretching, break up into pieces.

Jeffreys has subjected his assumption to three quantitative tests. These tests the theory has withstood with very considerable success. Knowing the law of fluid friction, it is possible to compute necessary thickness of the intervening layer. Its mass would have to be about one-hundredth of that of the sun; and this is, roughly, the total mass of the planets.

In the second place, if this amount of matter formed a single spherical body, it would rotate in about eight hours, which is sufficiently near the periods of the great planets.

Furthermore, it has been computed that the turning force exerted on the sun by this mass would make the sun itself rotate with a period of about thirty days, which is only twenty per cent. off and quite near enough to make the theory plausible.

According to this theory, satellites were formed at the same time as the planets. But just what the mechanism of that formation was is not yet clear.—Copyright, 1931, International Feature Service, Inc.

Balance in Daily Diet.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

I have frequently referred to the importance of a balanced diet. Today I want to explain more fully just what is meant by this term.

A balanced diet must carry the following factors:

First, sufficient calories to furnish heat and energy. The energy foods are the fats, starches and sugars.

In addition, it must contain inorganic salts, iron, phosphorus, lime and iodine. These elements are essential for the proper working of the body. Health can not be maintained when they are lacking in the diet.

The food must also supply tissue building elements. These substances are known as the proteins. They are contained in milk, meat and eggs.

It is essential that there be sufficient food and a variety of food. There should be plenty of the necessary vitamins. Vitamins are most abundant in fresh fruits and vegetables. No diet is a balanced diet without the supply of vitamin-containing foods.

There are foods, too, that are of value as "ballast" or "roughage." They contain indigestible material, such as cellulose, the fibre of vegetables. This cellulose serves as a stimulant to proper elimination. It hurries the elimination of the waste products of the balanced diet.

A balanced diet should provide approximately the same fuel value each day. This means that a person should not overeat one day and fast the next day. The body is a furnace which should be stoked regularly and equally each day.

Good health can not exist when the recognized food requirements are ignored. Since this program of food supplies and balances the needs of the body, it is aptly spoken of as a "balanced diet."

A balanced diet insures the full enjoyment of health. It protects against disease. It promotes growth and development.

L. G. Q—What is the cause of hives? Nothing seems wrong with my present health. Have lately had my teeth attended to and they are in fine condition.

A—The nerves, irritation from some particular food, constipation, as well as a possible kidney condition are all apt to be factors in this case.

MRS. C. C. Q—What do you advise for constipation?

A—Correct your diet. Eat simple well-cooked food. Send self-addressed, stamped envelope for further particulars and repeat your question.

The Word of God.

When a man's ways please the Lord, He maketh even his enemies to be at peace with him.—Proverbs 10:7.

In Retrospect.

BY GEO. H. VAN FLEET.

The day broke clear but without augury of the intense heat so common to that season of the year, which was well for it was the tenth day of August in 1922—the date set for committing to the tomb all that was mortal of the late President Warren Gamaliel Harding, and within a few hours something like a quarter of a million people would be closely grouped along a mile and a third of thoroughfare from its curbs back to the residences along it.

Dawns found the long human column, which had formed during the late afternoon of the day before and moved steadily, four abreast, toward the home of the late president's father until long after midnight, still in being. Hundreds upon hundreds had held their places in it throughout the night, that they might not miss looking upon the face of him who of all our presidents had found the warmest nook in the public heart. Why? Because the people of America knew him as one of them, as one so thoroughly human, and because they knew him alive and beyond all else, a true American.

The thousands who had passed the bronze casket inclosing the form of the honored dead sought rest from the fatigue they suffered from hours passed in the line wherever places for rest could be found. Thousands trudged to their cars, parked throughout the sections of the city not barred to traffic and beyond the city limits until every woodland and meadow along the major highways within a radius of six miles was thickly dotted with cars. Other thousands, too, directed to their cars, spent what was left of the night stretched out upon the city's lawns.

Sunrise showed the long column extended for many blocks and, despite the fact that a multitude had passed the casket during the intervening hours, long before noon the column was being steadily augmented more than a mile away. Although the time for viewing the dead had been twice extended, 2 o'clock—the hour set for the funeral—found not less than 10,000 who had joined the four lines to no avail.

Official honors had been paid the dead president two days before in Washington, where, following the funeral service under the lofty dome of the capitol, the body had lain in state.

It was the wish of the widow of the late president that the service here in his home city should be a simple one, and the service in his father's home was, in itself, of marked simplicity. But the gathering included many of the most notable figures of the land—the President and all the members of his cabinet save one, the chief justice of the United States and the associate justices of the supreme court, the speaker of the house, the president pro tem. of the senate, many distinguished members of the senate and lower house of congress, the governor of Ohio, the commanding general of the army, officers of high rank in the army, navy and marine corps, ambassadors, men who had achieved greatly in science, in invention, in industry and in business, philanthropists of national reputation, and men who had won distinction in literature and journalism. And there was an almost endless number of floral tokens of love, and esteem, and respect, not only from this land, but also from many other lands.

Throughout the preceding day, during the night and almost up to the noon hour, a steady, unbroken line of traffic had moved toward the city over every main highway leading into it. There were cars bearing Maine plate, cars from as far as the northwest as Idaho, cars from Colorado and Oklahoma, from the Gulf states, from the Atlantic coast states and from practically all the states less distant. It was estimated that no less than 45,000 cars from a distance were parked in and about the city. These cars, and the thousands of people, as estimated, brought seven times the city's population here for that day of mourning.

The progress of the funeral cortege was marked by quiet. There was no sound of trumpet or of drum as the cortege moved between the lines of federal and state troops flanking its course from the scene of the service to the city of the dead. And as silent as the movement of the cortege were the masses of humanity along its course. No strident voice was heard. No word was loudly spoken. There was an occasional sob, and tear-stained cheeks were many. For of all the multitude assembled here that day, there were few that did not truly mourn. The spirit of reverence was profound.

At the cemetery gates, the honorary pallbearers—five admirals, six generals of the army and one of the marine corps—joined the cortege, flanking the hearse as it moved over the park-like driveways to the tomb. A short prayer, and, as the multitude still stood with uncovered heads, the sturdy marines who served as pallbearers bore the casket within. The widow followed, and for a short time stood looking at the casket. Who knows? She may have had a premonition that she was soon to see behind the form of the husband she had loved so well.

Months pass, and the bodies of the two are given sepulcher under the ivy-carpeted soil within the circle of the white marble walls of the beautiful memorial dedicated today—a memorial achieved by the free-will offerings of the people of America.

How different that stately tomb of Grecian lines from the grave marked by a simple shaft Warren Gamaliel Harding, in his simplicity of spirit, suggested in his last will and testament!

Johnson's Island.

BY J. H. GALBRAITH.

Ohio was regarded as a convenient and safe place for the detention of Confederate prisoners captured in the Civil war, and the prison maintained there, known as Camp Chase, west of Columbus, was one of the largest detention camps in the North. But it was recognized that the problem of holding the captured officers of the Confederacy was a more difficult one, and these were separated from the men taken in their commands and placed in a prison depot located on Johnson's island in Sandusky bay. The island can be seen a little west of north from the water front of Sandusky City, though it is not easy to distinguish from the shore beyond.

The number of Confederate officers detained here increased as the war wore on. From 1,000, when it was first established, to more than 2,000 at the close of the war. One regiment of Ohio troops, the 128th O. V. I., was on duty under Colonel C. V. Hull all the time, and the guard was increased several times when it was reported that Confederate forces concentrated on the Canadian shores were planning to deliver the prisoners. One winter when ice covered the lake and the island was no longer an island to all intents and purposes, extra precaution against such a movement were taken. The officers confined on Johnson's island were sufficient to officer 80,000 troops, so that keeping them out of the service of the enemy was extremely important. Only one attempt to capture the prison was actually made by the Confederates, and that failed far from fruition.

It was a very healthy prison camp, and the total number of deaths among the imprisoned officers was only 260. Their bodies are buried on the island still. Their graves are about the only reminder on the island of its war-time life. The bridge connecting Sandusky with Marble Head peninsula, provided for by legislation a few years ago, will pass the island.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. MINTYRE.

New York, June 16—The wickedness of life in post-war New York has been, as most decadent in history. The plot, the claim morals have vanished. Every other opens into a speakeasy. Magnificent houses gambling halls. Night clubs are everywhere.

Ornate apartment houses are offered, stained sanctuaries. Youth and middle age have given up the reins and are driving. Yet an editorial blast in the 90's of the century winds were drifting in the day, sentimentalize as placidly mid-Victorian, the fervid style of the era, it reads:

"All New York is in the midst of unbridled gaiety and dissipation. Splendid carriages with livered coachmen and sleek horses, up and down the avenues, depositing the perfumed inmates of brilliantly-lighted, carpeted, and upholstered chambers, and the steepest of merry voices, the tinkling of glasses, the bald shoutings and amid it all is the suggestion of voluptuous music, soft seductively to the righteous almost sinister. Untold down the barbaric tumult goes on.

"Dancing, feasting, flirting and gossiping, the hours with fragrant chaplets, and the duties of life sink into total oblivion. The gaudy, like a drunken Sachant, away, the grow pale as the revelers depart, with flaming blood to the embowered chambers, and hold side by side chains."

Incidentally, people of that day did not refer to the epoch as "The Gay Nineties," then it was "The Flash Age." Sixth avenue, and around the old Haymarket was called "Satan's Circus." Sixth avenue was a road crowded with merry-makers from 3 a. m. to 5.

The Bohemian quarter, with its theatrical dinners, vin compri, was comparable to the Greenwich Village of a few years ago, as was around Bleeker street. The musical sporting life was, instead of in the "Flaming Forties," at Union square. Here also was the theatrical district—the Rialto.

Two spectacular figures in the sporting world during the innocent bravado of "The Flash Age" were "Lucky" Baldwin and "Boronia" (Million) Gates. They were colossal spenders. The "place to go" was Canfield's—next to old Del's. The most notorious dive of the time was Hattie Adams' wench house on Twenty-sixth street with a green lit paper mask dragon in the hall and a door-keeper dressed as Mephistopheles.

From an African outpost on the Congo, Uganda comes a letter from a philosopher, former New Yorker. Says he: "America has been sailing troubled waters, but from this detached viewpoint I see no cause for worry. Abraham's wife might have had a sewing machine and Napoleon a motor car. Material was waiting. The only thing changing thought. And people are thinking more clearly than ever and will surmount every obstacle."

An out-of-town invitation resulted in a dinner at the most luxurious and populous speakeasy I ever saw. It is the marble-fronted mansion, formerly occupied by a great bank. The shadowy murals, the fireplaces and other tapestried ta-ra-remain. There were a number of dining-rooms, two orchestras, and a oval-shaped bar with a millioned ceiling. Bartenders were on duty. It offered all the studied elegance of a continental hotel. Lady in the party, upon departing, observed: "It is all so home-like I keep looking for someone to tell what a good dinner I had."

These richly-carpeted and extravagant draped Parthenons, I am told, are responsible for the passing of the night club. They are something new and a little different, offering a soupçon of grandeur patrons never saw before.

At one of the tiny-topped tables in the bar, smartly-dressed lady was languidly imbibing thick pink drink. A string trio laid out her thrumming a soft melody. A passer waiter stumbled and a glass from his tray fell to the floor. She stood up in a spurning blast of temper, and said in the vilest manner ever heard: "And I thought of the quarters concerning the silk purr from a sow's ear. No matter how splendid the speaker's is still a saloon."

I confess to perpetual uneasiness in speakeasies, sitting on the edge of chairs in wide-eyed expectancy of a raid. Just a big, frightened faun!—Copyright, 1931, McNaughton-Squire, Inc.

HARDING'S RISE AN INSPIRATION

Shows Youth of America Path

which resulted in his selection as chairman and keynote orator of the Republican national convention in 1916 at which Charles Evans Hughes was nominated for President.

Named Head of Ticket

Mr. Harding was nominated for President by the Republican convention at Chicago the afternoon of June 12, 1920, and elected President of the United States Nov. 2, 1920. He was inaugurated with simple ceremony, having vetoed preparations at the national capital for an elaborate inaugural parade, and on March 4, 1921, became the twenty-ninth President of the United States. His first action, on the day he entered the White House, was an order dismissing policemen from the sentry boxes by the broad gates leading from the front lawn into Pennsylvania avenue and reopening the grounds to the public. That first action, on his first day as President, was thoroughly typical of the man.

On the day Mr. Harding entered the White House there were two outstanding phases of international policy to be settled. Technically the country was still at war, and peace-making was a task he inherited. Secondly, the country, in the "solemn referendum" invoked by Woodrow Wilson, who so defined the Presidential election campaign of 1920, had elected the candidate pledged to provide a substantial plan of international accord instead of the League of Nations. Peace and permanent relations to insure peace were to be achieved.

In domestic fields, fundamental economic problems confronted the President, who realized that he faced a task perhaps as difficult as that bequeathed to any peace-time executive in American history. The country was in revolt against continued wartime taxation, the party was pledged to tariff revision in accord with a Republican protection theory which Mr. Harding had modified in his campaign to the extent of saying that it must be reasonable; agriculture was crushed under the process of deflation; business languished as the problem of unemployment was in prospect.

Aims at Readjustment

In fields strictly governmental, the President was pledged to economic reform, a budget system and reorganization. He entered promptly upon his tasks in both the international and domestic fields. A cabinet had been chosen which met with generally popular support. He had promised the country "best minds" for his official counselors and the country was impressed by his selections, particularly Charles E. Hughes for secretary of state, Herbert Hoover for secretary of commerce and Andrew W. Mellon for secretary of the treasury.

President Harding summoned congress to meet in special session April 12, 1921, and in delivering his first address advised that body that the first task was at home and made finally and definitely clear that in the League of Nations this country could have no part so far as his administration was concerned. The months following resulted in a peace resolution which the President signed, while in domestic legislation the congress enacted an emergency tariff law designed to assist agriculture and began operations on a revenue revision act, which eventually passed. The session continued until late in the year, 1921, adjourning for but a brief recess before resuming its deliberations in regular session Dec. 4.

The President early in his first year of administration brought about the ratification of a treaty with Colombia, the government paying that republic $25,000,000 for the loss sustained when Panama succeeded.

Another step in the development of the Harding international policy was the summoning in Washington Nov. 12, 1921, of a conference on limitation of armament and Pacific and Far Eastern questions. The governments of Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan were invited to sit with the United States to consider limitations of armament and they, together with Belgium, the Netherlands, Portugal and China composed the conference on the Far East. The conference was held from Nov. 12, 1921, to Feb. 6, 1922.

Congress Stays on Job

The sixty-seventh congress, the first in American history to sit more than three sessions, met almost continuously through the first two years of the Harding administration.

Following adjournment of the sixty-seventh congress, March 4, 1923, President Harding went south for a rest, and at this time it was reported that he would be a candidate for reelection in 1924. President Harding, who was planning the Alaskan trip which he shortly embarked upon, declined to become an avowed candidate at so early a date, and made known in positive terms that, on the first cross-country trip since his election, when he was to take on the way to Alaska, he would go before the nation as President and not as a candidate to succeed himself.

Following his return to Washington from the South, President Harding completed preparations for his contemplated trip to Alaska, where he wished to view at first hand the administration of the affairs of the territory and plan a policy which would lead to full governmental encouragement for unlocking the vast treasure-house of natural resources. Accompanied by Mrs. Harding, his personal staff and three members of the cabinet, the secretary of the interior, agriculture and commerce, the President left Washington for the West and North June 20, 1923. His death occurred Aug. 2, 1923, in the Palace hotel in San Francisco, on the return trip from the Alaskan territory.

Hoover Tells of Service at Time of Nation's Crisis

"Gave Life in Worthy Accomplishment for Country," President Says.

weaken not only from physical exhaustion but from mental anxiety. Warren Harding had a dim realization that he had been betrayed by a few of the men whom he had trusted.

President Hoover said that the courts of the land later proved that these men had not only betrayed the trust of Harding but had betrayed their country as well.

Degrees of Disloyalty

"There are disloyalties and there are crimes which shock our sensibilities, which may bring suffering upon those who are touched by their immediate results," the President continued. "But there is no category of human weakness which compares with the failure of probity in the conduct of public trust. Monetary loss or even the shock to the moral sensibilities is perhaps a passing thing, but the breaking down of the faith of a people in the honesty of their government and in the integrity of their institutions, the lowering of respect for the standards of honor which prevail in high places, are crimes for which punishment can never atone."

Welcomed With Song
A large assembly of Marion school children greeted President Hoover, singing "America" as the presidential party approached the memorial. The pupils recruited from the public and parochial schools of the city included the fifth to through high school grades. The singers were located on a knoll west of the memorial.

As the last strains of the song died away, the Fort Hayes Regiment band struck up the first bars of "Hail to the Chief," as President Hoover stepped from his car and began the walk to the speakers' platform through the lines of waiting thousands. The Fort Hayes band was the official band of the day.

The program opened with former Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen of New Jersey, president of the Harding memorial association presiding. After the invocation by Rev. Father William J. Spickerman, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic church of Marion, Mr. Frelinghuysen formally presented the memorial to the Harding Memorial association in the opening address of the afternoon. The program then was turned over to former President Coolidge, honorary president of the memorial association.

Acceptance by Coolidge
After a number, "Fair Land of Freedom," Donizetti, by the Columbus Glee club, Mr. Coolidge addressed the dedication through, at the same time accepting the memorial from Mr. Frelinghuysen.

The address by Governor White followed Mr. Coolidge's. The Ohio executive accepted on behalf of the people of the state the lasting memorial to one of her favorite sons.

A selection by the glee club, "The Star-Spangled Banner," preceded President Hoover's address.

Had Pimples So Badly Did Not Want to Be Seen. Cuticura Healed.

"I had pimples all over my body so badly that I did not want to be seen by any one. They were large and red, but not very hard. The pimples festered and then would break, and itched and burned so that I could not sleep half of the time. My clothing rubbed them and made them very sore. I had the trouble for two long years."

"I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample of each. I purchased soap, and inside of two weeks I was completely healed, after using one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment." (Signed) Miss Doris Irelan, 325 N. 3rd St., Decatur, Ind.

Frelinghuysen Designates Memorial as Nation's Gift

It is to the generous thousands of our countrymen who have freely given—to the thousands of school children—to the Boy Scouts—to the Girl Scouts—to the region, and to the fraternal associations—that we dedicate this memorial. To these thousands of donors, to Marion which has been the beautiful site as a last gift for her distinguished son, the late General Sylvester Frelinghuysen, first chairman of the committee who initiated the memorial and who, during the last of his life in its behalf, the present and the future of the executive committee carried out the many duties of the memorial commission, whose guidance to the selection of architects and of the site, and who planned its surroundings; and to the distinguished architect, Horatio W. Wood of Pittsburgh, to whose genius we owe the stately and beautiful design of the memorial, we dedicate this memorial. To these thousands of donors, to Marion which has been the beautiful site as a last gift for her distinguished son, the late General Sylvester Frelinghuysen, first chairman of the committee who initiated the memorial and who, during the last of his life in its behalf, the present and the future of the executive committee carried out the many duties of the memorial commission, whose guidance to the selection of architects and of the site, and who planned its surroundings; and

Appropriate Architecture

"We turn to the classic for the very inspiration of liberty and in the ordered restraint and the lasting serenity of classic architecture, we have sought to carry out the simplicity which President and Mrs. Harding desired and yet to achieve the exalted dignity worthy of the tomb of a president of the republic. Here, sheltered by the beauty of this inspiring memorial, the dead president and his devoted wife are forever at rest at home in their beloved Ohio.

As Active President of the Harding Memorial Association and as spokesman for those who have sponsored the monument and given it to the republic and for his close personal friends, members of the executive committee for them and for himself it is a privilege to pay a brief tribute to his memory. The nation knew and mourned Warren

G. Harding as its President; I knew and mourned him as my friend. It was my privilege to know him before he entered the United States senate, to serve with him in the presidency, and then to render such assistance as friendship itself might proffer to that high office. Looking back upon the years of our friendship I can testify that he served his country with deep sincerity of purpose and was animated by a devoted patriotism. Certain attributes of his character were outstanding—his great humanity and his kindness; his loyalty to his friends, a loyalty which he unselfishly gave and which because of its very depth, was sometimes abused. He loved with the highest devotion the great republic he had been called upon to serve. He had abiding faith in the democracy, the genius and the institutions of his country, and in his countrymen. He loved peace and hated war. He was courteous, sympathetic and unaffected, yet with a natural dignity that robbed him well in the office of the presidency which he truly regarded as a sacred trust.

Directs Turn to Progress

"It was no simple task that history placed upon him. He was called to the presidency when the shadows of the great war had not wholly passed away, and when the roar of battle still echoed in the heart and conscience of mankind. It was not so much that he brought a change of political administration—the unconquerable destiny of America depends not on the accident of party—but it was that he brought a changed direction and a changing point of view. The momentum of war which had upheld the nation was fast dying away and the inertia of peace was yet to be mastered. The nation was restless, unsettled and war weary, and President Harding helped us turn away from the hot forge of war to the less insistent anvil of peace. Human understanding was sorely needed in government after the impersonal efforts of a vast machinery of war and he stood before the nation in an attitude of sympathy and as a messenger of good will. It was not his to order the millions to battle; it was his to call show and others will realize how well in the short space allotted to him he wrought in a period when

"In honoring him thus, we seek also to do visible honor to the great office of the presidency, as the keystone of our national life. Out of the millions of men who have thronged our land during the 142 years of our national existence only 30 have occupied that exalted place and deep in her heart America, which loves and reveres the presidency, has come to believe that it is a noble distinction which must be earned and cannot be fortuitous. It is an office which has been sanctified to the nation by a long line of distinguished men and I am certain that as that noble procession of leaders passes down the avenue of our national history, not among the least of them shall we see the kindly face of the patriot, Harding, who again accomplished in our day the great tradition of the past by becoming the nation's president.

"Here then, on these plains of Ohio, herself the mother of many presidents, we erect this memorial to Warren Gamaliel Harding, May it forever stand as an enduring monument to his memory and symbolize to the sons and daughters of the republic that we of this day honor the presidency as the visible expression of the power and majesty of a great democracy, and that at a time when the forces of free government were being everywhere challenged throughout a turbulent world we here dared to affirm afresh our faith in the republic and our belief that it is a free government which alone can make free men."

TOMB GUARD ON DUTY TILL SPRING OF 1928

U. S. Army Detachment Given Honor Post for Several Years.

Standing guard over the body of the late President Harding and later that of the former first lady of the land, while they lay in the receiving vault in the Marion cemetery, and for several months after they had been laid to rest in the Harding guard detachment, stationed here as an honor military guard.

The detachment was placed on duty shortly after the death of President Harding and remained here until the spring of 1928. The first commanding officer was Lieutenant Carter M. Koeb. He was replaced six months later by Lieutenant Richard S. Gassford. Lieutenant Walter Lee Sherry assumed command of the detachment Aug. 14, 1924, coming to Marion from Ft. Thomas, Ky., where he was in command of H. company, Tenth United States Infantry.

More than 60 enlisted men from Fort Thomas and Fort Hayes served in the detachment during the command of Lieutenant Sherry. The detachment occupied headquarters in the Y. M. C. A. building with the exception of several months spent in an improvised camp in the Marion cemetery opposite the temporary vault where the bodies of the late President and Mrs. Harding rested.

During their stay here members of the detachment took part in all patriotic celebrations and furnished firing squads for funerals of ex-soldiers. On holidays they were guests of individuals and organizations. More than 1,000,000 people from every state in the union and from practically every country viewed the resting place of the former President and his wife during the time the detachment was on duty here.

Special Songs on Glee Club's Program Today

Included in the group of songs sung at the dedication exercises of the Harding memorial today by the Columbus Glee club are two written especially for the club. One pays tribute to the President and the other to the nation. The words and music were written by Mr. and Mrs. David M. Ireland of Columbus. Mr. Ireland is a former member of the club. The number has not yet been published. The second number, "Dear Land of Freedom" was arranged for the club and is set to the music of the sextette from "Lullaby" The songs follow:

OUR PRESIDENT
Our President, all Hall, Our President
We love our country and our flag
As it flies from sea to sea
We honor him who guards it
That it may stand as free
Our President, the leader of a Sovereign nation free Exercising justice as well as
And he who in the nation loves
And he who in the nation loves

As the sun God has sent
To guide and to guide the way
And he who in the nation loves
And he who in the nation loves

DEAR LAND OF FREEDOM
Dear land of our dear land of freedom
Laws and lofty mountains,
All thy wonders and all thy meadows
Rivers winding to the sea
Falling fountains,
All are mine to guard and cherish
With a love that shall not perish
Crowned with honor thou shalt stand
Our hopes shall rest secure in thee
My own dear land
Whose banner is aglow with light
With stars that shine with mystic With glory from the years gone by
And with face that in memory
Lives and shall not die
My own beloved land
My own beloved native land
My own land.

CHURCH NOTIHostesses Entertain Guests
Here for Dedication of Tomb

DEDICATION of the Harding memorial today brings to the city numerous guests from a distance and Marion hostesses for the most part are keeping open house to their friends. Although the occasion is not one of elaborate entertaining it brought together groups of friends for small dinner and luncheon parties yesterday and today.

Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Lewis of Vernon Heights boulevard have housed their guests at Hotel Harding and are entertaining them informally at their home. Mrs. Heber Votaw, sister of Mrs. Lewis, who with Mr. Votaw is in the city for the exercises today, entertained at dinner last evening at Hotel Harding for the pleasure of a number of her friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis' guests include the latter's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Elton E. Remsburg and their daughter Miss Catherine Remsburg of Santa Ana, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. Charles Boyd of Butler, Pa., Mr. and Mrs. Charles Finley of Pittsburgh, Miss Nancy Barnett of Pittsburgh, Miss Margaret Barnett of Markleton, Pa., Mr. and Mrs. Carney Stain of Pittsburgh, Lewis L. Pope of Cleveland, Mrs. Margaret Mason of Cleveland, Mrs. Cora Whitmore, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sanford and daughter Miss Betty Sanford of Lorain, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Pope of Washington, D. C., Mr. and Mrs. John Burnham of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Lowell F. Hobart, of Cincinnati.

Mrs. C. E. Sawyer and her son and daughter-in-law Dr. and Mrs. Carl W. Sawyer are keeping open house at their home, White Oaks Farm. Among their guests are Mrs. Malcolm Jennings of Columbus, Dr. and Mrs. Gilbert Kirkpatrick of Chicago, Sherman Stevic of Toledo, Dr. Charles L. Bennett of Los Angeles, who are guests of Mrs. C. E. Sawyer, Ambassador Charles G. Dawes, Miss Mary Brandt of Madison, N. J., Miss Georgia Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Warren C. Sawyer and Dr. Theodore Zuck of Cleveland, guests of Dr. and Mrs. Carl W. Sawyer.

MRS. CHARLES WEIL, who before her marriage June 2, was Miss Jean DeWolfe, was complimented with a shower and bridge yesterday afternoon when Mrs. Bird Jacoby entertained 16 of her close friends at her home on east Church street. The guests enjoyed cards in rooms colorfully decorated with spring flowers. Guests from out of the city included Miss Alice Menley of Cleveland, Mrs. Charles Moritz of Columbus and Mrs. Harold Parcher of Delaware. Mrs. Weil's gifts were cleverly presented to her in a kitchen shower and appointments for the luncheon were suggestive of the occasion.

Bride of Wednesday
Mrs. Anna Morrison entertained at a shower Friday evening at her home at 217 1/2 north Main street for the pleasure of her niece, Miss Cleora Bonham whose marriage to Roy Bellinger will take place Wednesday. The bride's colors of blue and white were carried out in the decorations throughout the rooms and in the appointments for a lunch served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Esta Thompson and Mrs. Marvin Clark. Contest honors were awarded Miss Ruth Bellinger, Miss Carolyn Oboon, Miss Barbara Bingham and Mrs. Helen Bellinger. The guessing box award was presented Miss Ruth Bellinger. Announcement of the approaching marriage was made in a telegram received by Miss Ruth Bellinger.

Those present were Misses Ruth Bellinger, Eleanor Thompson, Helen Bellinger, Margaret Henninger, Edyth Thompson, Annabelle Callahan, Isabel Callahan, Catherine Bingham, Mary Bingham, Evelyn Thomas, Barbara Bingham, Garnet Russell, Pauline Warner, Thelma Danner, Leona Thompson, LaVern Danner and Mrs. Esta Thompson. Mrs. Marvin Clark of Elvira was an out-of-town guest.

Entertains For Daughter Jean
Mrs. Guy Millis of 956 Henry street entertained a group of children Saturday afternoon honoring the fourth birthday anniversary of her daughter Jean. Outdoor games were enjoyed. A birthday cake lighted with four candles centered the table at which lunch was served. Jean received a number of presents.

Guests were Jack, Eddie and Doris Sullivan, Joe, Ethel and Sarah Ferriman, Junior and Twila Retterer, Virginia Griffith, Armida and Iva Irine Baker, Betty June and Richard Stanley, Paul White, Audrey Bradshaw, Alice Turner, Dorothy, Ruth and Donald Millis. Mrs. Lon Stanley assisted the hostess in serving.

Ann PENNINGTON

Famous stage and screen star, still radiantly youthful, tells how to stay alluring

"I NEVER MIND telling my age," says dainty little Ann Pennington. "As long as a woman doesn't look old, I don't see why birthdays should worry her."

"And nowadays there isn't much excuse for looking one's age. Any one who really wants to can keep youthful charm right through the years."

"We on the stage, of course, guard youth as our most priceless treasure. Without it, we can't hope to hold the admiration we have won."

"So no matter how busy we may be, we give our complexions the most diligent care. A skin with that soft glowing sort of look is always appealing. For years I have used Lux Toilet Soap regularly. It does leave my skin so youthfully smooth and fresh!"

Countless other lovely stars agree with this famous dancer about Lux Toilet Soap!

In Hollywood, 605 of the 613 leading actresses use it. And this fragrant white soap is official in all the great film studios.

Surely your skin should have this gentle, luxurious care!

Guest of Mr. and Mrs. Bintz

MR. AND MRS. A. L. BINTZ of 570 east Center street have as their house guest this week, Miss Frances Schermer of Herkimer, N. Y., girlhood friend of Mrs. Bintz. Miss Schermer is combining her visit in Marion with her work as acting field secretary of the National Jewish Hospital for Consumptives in Denver, Colo.

Miss Schermer has served for the last five years as president of the Herkimer section of the National Council of Jewish Women and for last two years as auditor for the State of New York Council. For three years she has been a member of the national extension committee, representing New York state.

For many years Miss Schermer served as secretary of the New York State Association of Elocutionists and after its merger with the New York State Teachers' association, became vice president of the oral English section. She was the first elocutionist to serve on the New York State and National Association of Elocutionists as a subject for criticism for those educational bodies.

Until the last three years no subscriptions have been solicited outside the Jewish people but owing to the enormous increase in non-Jewish patients, a great many persons of means are volunteering to subscribe. More than 6,000 patients have received free treatment at the hospital, regardless of race, color, sect or creed, in the last 30 years. Last year the B'nai B'rith Jewish lodge gave a 100-bed annex for the care of aged men and women who are incurably afflicted with tuberculosis.

Miss Schermer is acting as field secretary until Miss Selxas, well known in Marion Jewish circles, recovers from a minor illness. Miss Selxas has visited in Marion upon several occasions. Miss Schermer will be the guests of Mrs. Bintz at a benefit musical at the Marion Country club Thursday afternoon.

Glee Club Was Favorite Harding Singing Group

A FAMILIAR sight in Marion during the campaign days of President Harding and an organization which will long be remembered by the citizens for its singing is the Columbus Glee club, which is on today's dedication program. The club played no small part in the political activities of the late President.

The club paid several visits to Marion during the summer of the famous "front porch" campaign and its members were guests of President and Mrs. Harding at the White House on a later date. On the occasion of the visit to the White House the members entertained with a program for the disabled veterans at Walter Reed hospital at the request of the President and first lady of the land.

Guests at Harding Home
The club members were guests of President and Mrs. Harding at their home on Mt. Vernon avenue, when he was a candidate and later while he was serving as a United States senator. It was shortly after Mr. Harding had received the nomination for United States senator that some 60 or more members paid a visit to his home and while grouped on the front porch it sagged. When the members assembled again on the new concrete porch after his election to the senate they were greeted with, "Well, boys, you can't break it down tonight."

The club attended the national convention at Chicago in 1920, and appeared in the hotels and at Harding headquarters singing songs boosting Senator Harding for the nomination for president and in July, 1920, attended the dedication ceremonies at Marion. They paid several visits to the city throughout the months of 1920, and joined with the hundreds of friends of President Harding in celebrating his election in November.

Voted Tribute to Club
It was on this occasion that President Harding paid the club a glowing tribute in which he said: "You of the glee club, how often we have campaigned together. It is 21 years since you have sung and I have spoken at our first meeting. I have been thrilled, heartened and inspired by your work. It isn't that you are skilled in music. It is because you love the work and sing with a soul. I pay tribute to you as the spokesmen of a party for the services you have rendered."

At the close of that meeting President Harding requested the club to sing "The End of a Perfect Day," the favorite song of Mrs. Harding. President Harding's favorite was the club's own song, "The Big Medley," and both songs were requested by him on many occasions. President Harding was acquainted with a large number of the members, and often referred to them by their nicknames. The club attended the funeral services for Mrs. Harding, and their last appearance in Marion was on the occasion of the laying of the cornerstone for the memorial.

Consider your Adam's Apple!! Don't Rasp Your Throat With Harsh Irritants

"Reach for a LUCKY instead"

What is the effect of irritation upon the throat? Here are the exact words of a noted authority retained by us to study this question. He writes—

"First, the vocal chords, on account of their delicacy of structure, would be the first tissues to give indication of irritation, evidenced by the huskiness of the smoker's voice, the result of relaxed tension and slower vibration of the vocal chords. The next site of irritation would be the tissues adjacent to the vocal chords comprising the larynx, therefore the general focal point of the irritation would be in the voice box represented externally by the Adam's Apple."

So—Consider your Adam's Apple. Be careful in your choice of cigarettes. Don't rasp your throat with harsh irritants. Reach for a LUCKY instead.

Mother and Child Killed in Galion Crossing Accident

AUTO STRUCK BY BIG 4 TRAIN

Mrs. Earl Thoman, Daughter, Die in Good Samaritan Hospital.

Special to The Star
GALION, June 16—A mother and her 18-month-old daughter are dead and another child is in a critical condition in a Galion hospital after their automobile was struck by a Big Four passenger train here last night.

Mrs. Nellie Mae Thoman of near Bloomington died last night in Good Samaritan hospital from internal injuries and a broken thigh. Her daughter, Cordelia, died at 11 p. m. from internal injuries. A son, Homer, 4, suffered a compound fracture of the left arm and cuts and bruises.

The automobile was struck yesterday at 6:45 p. m. by the Ohio State limited at the Parson street crossing of the Big Four railroad. Mrs. Thoman and her two children were riding east. The train was northbound.

Joint funeral services for the mother and daughter will be held Thursday at 2 p. m. in the home and at 2:30 p. m. in the Mt. Gilead M. E. church. Burial will be made in the Mt. Gilead cemetery. The bodies will be taken to the home of the mother's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Hershner of near Mt. Gilead, tonight from the Volk funeral home here.

Mrs. Thoman was born in Morrow county July 31, 1908. She was married five years ago to Earl Thoman. The child was born Oct. 11, 1929.

Mrs. Thoman is survived by the husband, one son, her parents, three brothers, Elmer, Charles and Clarence Hershner of Mt. Gilead, and three sisters, Mrs. Carl Long of Edison, Mrs. Howard Knechtel and Mrs. Clara Hershner at home.

FIGHT REOPENED TO DISCONTINUE SERVICE

New York Central Gets New Hearing; Says Passenger Line Losing Money.

Special to The Star
MT. GILEAD, June 16—The New York Central railroad has renewed its effort to discontinue all passenger service on the road between Toledo and Thurston.

The latest move is a request for another hearing before the state utilities commission which denied the road permission to discontinue the service when a hearing was held at Columbus May 23.

The protests of the municipalities along the line were considered by the commission sufficient to offset the railroad's claim of loss from the passenger business.

A loss of between $30,000 and $40,000 per year was claimed by the road. No attempt was made by the representatives to deny that the road did lose that amount by maintaining the passenger service but they introduced evidence to show that the revenue from freight, mail and express services was large enough to offset the loss.

A contract between the city of Mt. Gilead as owner of the Shortline railroad between here and Edison and the N. Y. C. was also presented to the commission. The contract calls for the operation of passenger trains in and out of Mt. Gilead for a period of 10 years beginning in 1927.

The commission has granted the request for a new hearing as the railroad attorneys state that they have new evidence to present.

The hearing will be held at Columbus July 1. P. H. Wieland, Mt. Gilead, attorney, has been retained to represent the city at the second hearing. Municipalities dependent on the railroad for passenger service sent representatives to ask the commission to refuse the railroad's request and they will again send delegations to the second hearing for the same purpose. In addition to Wieland, Attorney Charles F. Schaber of Bucyrus and Colonel Yearick of Licking county will head the legal forces of the municipalities.

In addition to Mt. Gilead, Marengo and Fulton would be cut off from

PLANS WHITE WAY LIGHTS

Council Considers Costs; Contracts Let for Disposal Plant Work.

Special to The Star
MT. GILEAD, June 16—The contract for the rebuilding of three filter beds at the sewage disposal plant here was awarded to the Mt. Gilead Construction Co. at the council meeting Monday night. The bid was $2,009.20 for all labor.

A separate contract was awarded to the France Stone Co. of Kenton for the 2,160 tons of limestone needed for the three beds. The cost for the latter is $2,592. The reconstruction of the beds will be started this week.

Arrangements have been made with the Mt. Gilead Water Light Heat and Power Co. whereby the company will prepare all plans and specifications for the new "white way" lights to be placed along Main street between the north and south squares and along High street when Main street is widened.

The estimate of the cost of the lights includes poles at $25, fixtures at $15 and wiring which brings the cost of each light installed up to approximately $70. Tentative plans call for the installation of 14 of the lights the total cost will be slightly under $1,000.

H. D. Schaeffer, resident state highway engineer, asked the municipality to let the department know how they would cooperate in a plan of the state highway department to widen and resurface the part of Route 42 south of town which lies between the Whetstone river and the corporation line. He was unofficially assured that the town would pay 50 per cent of the estimated cost of $4,000 if the money is available after other major contracts are awarded.

1,800 POLICING CROWD TODAY

Federal and Guard Troops Join Volunteers in Handling Traffic, Police Work.

Marion was well policed today with federal and Ohio National Guard troops on duty with volunteer units of Boy Scouts and American Legion members from this section of the state. Approximately 1,800 persons were in charge of police and traffic work and the supervision of parking on the 60 acres of land near the memorial.

Posts were established this morning at eight points for traffic control. One of these was at Pleasant Acres two miles south of here where traffic was diverted from state route 23 to make the section of the road near the memorial available for pedestrians.

Other units were in charge of police work, cooperating with the city police, at various points in the southern half of the city.

General W. H. Bush of Columbus was in general command of troops today with Colonel Gilsen D. Light of Toledo and second in command. Headquarters were maintained at the O. N. G. armory on west Church street.

First companies reported shortly after daybreak this morning to police early visitors to the memorial grounds. Companies assembled for duty from Ohio National Guard posts in this section included Companies B and D from Marion, Co. E of the 168th Infantry of Marysville, Co. E of the 168th Infantry of Ashland, Co. K, 168th Infantry at

CORNELL FAVORED TO WIN HUDSON RIVER COLLEGIATE REGATTA

Several Other Crews Expected To Furnish Stiff Opposition.

BY EDWARD J. NEIL

By the Associated Press
POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 16.—Sweep swimmers of nine universities participate in the thirty-fourth annual intercollegiate championship regatta this afternoon.

The crowd that usually numbers from 50,000 to 100,000 by race time and for one day at least each year makes Poughkeepsie a junior metropolis.

The outsmen speculated on the chances any crew in the varsity had to catching a mighty Cornell eight as it swoops on the ebb tide down four miles of river from Krum Elbow to the finish line.

Old man river himself, a nasty fellow who flies into a rage in a moment and spills the frail cedar shells all over the place, was one fellow to beat and Cornell was the other. Today both appeared at their peaks and the fleet on the river was ready for anything.

Last year Cornell, big and powerful, broasted stormy seas to conquer both the river and the same field that pulls to the starting line at 5 p. m. (Marion time) this evening for the championship varsity struggle.

While the coaches to a man figured Cornell was the crew to beat, four other eight on their records for the season, carried the big threat to the Ithacan supremacy.

Columbia, conqueror of a half-dozen crews this season, was rated just back of Cornell.

The hunkies of Washington ate east again and a high speed, fast stroking crew that defeated California and Syracuse, second to Cornell last year, has a light but powerful undefeated eight.

Mike Murphy's Wisconsin varsity is racing today for the first time and the river experts have tabbed it a strong contender, the outstanding "dark horse" of the main event.

Florida's California golden heart are big and confident, and the best crew he has brought to the regatta since the Olympic championship of 1928.

Navy and Massachusetts Institute of Technology, beaten several times through the season, were regarded as the most improved crews on the river.

Only Pennsylvania, a disappointment, all year, was without a full quota of neutral supporters.

BY BOB KIRKPATRICK
Sports Editor, The Star
MARION, OH., June 16.—The habit of the time to be claiming a new record or something or other, it is suggested here, that teams in the No. 2 Sunday School league immediately enter a claim for the record that is apparently due them as the result of the four games played yesterday within the league. The record won't do the league in itself any good but it might provide some solace for the four teams that were on the losing end of the scores yesterday.

Forest Lawn (1) probably isn't any good but neither are any of the others. Four games were played and in the four the losing nines collected a grand total of exactly no scores. One or two shutouts a day is not particularly unusual in Marion softball but four is another story—decidedly so.

It is a Question!
The First Presbyterians ball club is probably debating today whether to put Art Amick, Christian Seniors' hurler, on the back for donating two free tickets to first base to pave the way for the single Presbyterian run of the game or to sing the praises of one right fielder named Herring who connected with the hit that scored the single marker. The final score of the Presby-Seniors game was 1-0. Conroy scored the run after a slightly wild throw to first allowed him to get on; two men had walked and Herring banged out his single.

Don Shoemaker, Presbyterian pitcher, sent eight men to the bench via the strikeout route, setting the Seniors down in order by strikeouts in the third inning.

St. Paul Wins Again
This hustling young ball club of St. Paul's Lutheran Sunday school chalked up another victory by putting the skids under First Reformed on a 4-0 tune. Don Lindsey, promising St. Paul hurler, was stingy with his hits, giving the losers only four and scattering them as effectively that only two First Reformed men got as far as third base. Miley gave St. Paul but six safeties but erratic support coming at inopportune times helped the cause of the winners.

Roscoe Rank and Johnny Cook of the Christian No. 1 and Wesley M. E. Sunday Schools were the principals in another of the hurlers' duels of the day's schedule. Rank was even tighter with his hits than was Lindsey in the reformed-St. Paul fracas, allowing only one safe bingle, a rather notable accomplishment considering the fact that Wesley's batters are no mean stickers. Few are fence busters but most of them are dangerous hitters. Cook was slightly more liberal than Rank, giving up five safeties in the seven innings, a performance that will stand comparison with most any turned in the No. 2 circuit.

U. B. Set Down
All went well for the United Brethren outfit yesterday until the third inning. The score up to that time was 0-0 and it looked like it was going to stay that way for some time. The surest of indications sometimes go amiss however and that's what happened in the third frame of this fray.

Forest Lawn managed to drive across a single run and get the bases loaded and set the stage for what was to come. It came and all at once—in the nature of a four base drive that scarcely fit in fair territory along the third base line and sent clear through the outfield. Converse gets credit for the smash and it was a terrible wallop. The game was over right there as far as the United Brethren team was concerned. Forest Lawn chased across a couple more scores in later innings but the result was definitely settled as when Converse engineered his homer that cleared the bases.

INDIANS DROP GAME TO CHAMPIONS 4-1 IN CELEBRATION OF FLAG-RAISING.
BY ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer.
Though winning ball games at a 929 clip, Washington has been unable to gain any measurable ground.
Since June 1, the Senators have accounted for 13 of their 14 games, winning the last ten, but they trail the Philadelphia Athletics by three full games. While the Senators have been setting a burning pace against the western clubs, the champions also have been playing ball, winning 11 of their last 14 games.
The Tenth Straight
The Senators chalked up their tenth straight yesterday at the expense of the St. Louis Browns, winning 4 to 3 after Fred Marberry had staged one of his famous relief acts. The big right hander went into the game in the seventh with the score tied two men on base and one out. He pitched without allowing a run but held them hitless for the remainder of the game while his teammates put across the winning tally in the eighth.
Keeping pace with the Johnson crew, the Athletics defeated the Cleveland Indians 4 to 1, as they celebrated the raising of their 1930 world's championship pennant. Rube Walberg was on the mound for his tenth victory as against two defeats.
Yankee Lose Ground
The New York Yankees dropped a little deeper into third place, falling before the rejuvenated Detroit Tigers for the second straight game. The score was 8 to 5.
The Red Sox and White Sox batted 11 innings before Boston gained a 3 to 2 decision. Bob Kline and Vic Frazier, a pair of rookies went the route.
Only one game was played in the National league but the Boston Braves edged a little closer to third place, taking their second consecutive game from the Chicago Cubs, 9 to 3. Wally Fowler hit a home run to lead the attack against Bob Smith, Blake and Teachout.
ROOKIE TOO GOOD
So "Sunny Jim" May Warm Bench for Cardinals' Ball Club.
By The Associated Press
ST. LOUIS, June 16.—"Sunny Jim" Bottomley, veteran Cardinal first baseman, who has been out of action because of injuries for about two weeks, is nearly ready to return to duty, but it appeared today that he has no job to return to, at least for the present.
James (Ripper) Collins, the young man of Rochester, has been fielding and hitting so brilliantly during "Sunny Jim's" absence that Manager Gabby Street indicated he probably would allow the International league recruit to remain on the job until a slump or accident makes a change advisable.
Bottomley, until forced out by injuries, was having his best season since 1928, when he was adjudged the National league's most valuable player.
Collins has played through the last 12 games for the Red Birds, and in the dozen contests he made 27 hits in 52 times at bat. His hits included six triples and five doubles for a total of 45 bases. The "ripper" hit safely in each of the 12 games, and in only two of them did the enemy pitching hold him to one safety.

TWO SOLID SMASHES WIN FOR CARNERA
Irishman Sent to Dreamland in First Round of New York Fight.
By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, June 16.—Primo Carnera doesn't like the rain. It seems.
Twenty thousand fight fans piled into Ebbets field, Brooklyn, last night to see Primo battle Pat Redmond, a giant Irishman almost as big as Primo himself. It was raining a bit and a real shower seemed imminent.
St. Primo went to work. Two minutes and 24 seconds after the first round started, the big Venetian was on his way to the dressing rooms. Over in Redmond's corner, the Irishman's handlers were trying to revive him. They succeeded.
Redmond never had a chance. Primo's first punch, a right, put the six feet four inch Irishman down for eight. Another right to the jaw finished proceedings.
Carnera weighed 275 pounds; Redmond 248.
Ernie Schaaf, Boston heavy-weight who seems to have developed a punch all at once, knocked out his fellow-townsmen, Jack Gagnon, in 46 seconds of the first round in the chief preliminary. Schaaf weighed 202½. Gagnon 205.

Hornby Says, So He Jerks Himself from Lineup of Bruins.

CHICAGO, June 16.—Rogers Hornby, boss of the Cubs, practices what he preaches even if his preaching affects himself.
He has jerked himself because he was not delivering with his war club.
Ever since he took over the managerial reins of the Cubs, Hornby frankly advised his players that they would stay in the lineup as long as they delivered. So yesterday he scanned over the batting averages and decided Manager Hornby should take the rest cure.
"When a fellow isn't hitting, a rest sometimes does him a world of good," the Rajah explained. "I haven't been hitting since we got back home so I'm benched for a time."
Clarence Blair replaced the Rajah at second base yesterday.

RACE GROWS HOTTER AMONG A. A. TEAMS
Only Seven Games Separate Leader from Tailender of Circuit.

CHICAGO, June 16.—If the American Association flag chase gets much more exciting, it may be necessary to employ a squad of heart and nerve specialists for the serious minded fans around the circuit.
As the race neared the third-way mark today, the battle was so hot that only seven games separated the front runner from the cellar occupant. St. Paul was back into first place by a half game margin over Louisville and Milwaukee was just two games away from the top.
St. Paul took the lead yesterday by defeating Indianapolis, 6 to 4, while Minneapolis beat Louisville, 3 to 0, and booted the "kernels" into second place.
Toledo did its bit toward tightening the race from top to bottom by defeating Milwaukee, 7 to 5. Ernie Wingard rammed out a home run with two men on bases in the third inning.
Kansas City and Columbus drew an off-day yesterday because of the rain.

Picture of New Prosperity Drawn in Hoover Speech

More Efficient Economic System To Come from Depression, President Says in Address at Indianapolis.

By The Associated Press
INDIANAPOLIS, June 16—Hoover, president of the nation, drew a picture of new prosperity, and plans for a new prosperity, to be wrought out of great natural resources by a courageous people, were expressed to the nation by President Hoover last night in an address devoted to the "dominant" subject of the depression.

In the vast and profusely decorated auditorium at the state fair grounds the chief executive spoke to 5,200 persons, members and guests of the Indiana Republican Editorial association, and to countless others over nationwide radio hook-ups.

Before this hot, restless, but nevertheless responsive, audience the chief executive, in deliberate and emphatic tones, defended his course in the economic crisis, assailed "theoretical panaceas" for recovery, and gave assurance that the "underlying forces of recovery are asserting themselves."

See Future Benefits
After tracing the causes of the depression to the world war and its resultant high taxes, huge armaments, and political instability, Mr. Hoover declared that the people of the country should take to heart lessons to be learned from its many phases.

"From the experience of this depression," he said, "will come not only a greatly sobered and more efficient economic system than we possessed two years ago, but a greater knowledge of its weaknesses."

Some of the weaknesses he listed were inability of the federal reserve system to prevent diversion of large sums into "wasteful speculation and stock promotion," inability of some banks to give proper protection to depositors; use of commodity and security exchanges for "illegitimate speculations"; dumping of stocks and real estate on a falling market to avoid payment of capital gains taxes; and inequalities placed on farmers and home owners by federal and local taxation.

"The underlying forces of recovery," which he said were asserting themselves, he listed as follows: steadily increasing savings which will not "remain idle lines," higher consumption in many lines of retail goods, good harvest prospects and recovery from the drought; and the dying out of revolutionary movements in other countries.

Lauds Leaders
Pointing to "freedom from strikes, lockouts and disorders unequalled even in prosperous times," he lauded the leaders of industry and labor for their efforts to maintain wages and industrial peace.

Conceding there were some "inequalities and inequalities" in the Smoot-Hawley tariff act, Mr. Hoover nevertheless said that it had saved "our farmers and working men from being overwhelmed with goods from foreign countries, where even since our tariff was revised, wages and prices have been reduced to much lower levels than before."

POSSE CATCHES BANK ROBBERS

Trio Captured in Hills After Holdup in Ohio Town.

By The Associated Press
GEORGETOWN, June 16—Three men who "shot up" the nearby village of Higginsport and looted the bank in frontier day style yesterday were held in the county jail today because citizens were as quick with guns as the robbers.

A posse of 200 chased the trio into the hills of the Ohio river and caught them when they tried to escape to Kentucky in a rowboat.

The men gave their names as Howard Bowman, 26, Neil Bowman, 22, brothers of Portland, O., and Lyle Cornell, 22, of Texas. Cornell had been wounded.

The robbers, armed with rifles, revolvers and machine guns, drove into Higginsport yesterday and opened fire on the telephone building. After a few more shots at a burglar alarm on top of the building, they entered the Higginsport Citizens bank and scooped up $26,000, forcing C. B. Williams, the cashier, and Mary W. Terfield, the clerk into the teller's cage.
